

City Snow Alert - Snowstorm on Saturday

The City of Cambridge is expected to experience another snow storm this Saturday, January 11, 2025.

This snow storm is expected to bring less than three inches of snow to the Cambridge area.

Public Works, the Cambridge Police Department and the Rescue Fire Company are prepared to work together to address snow removal and other safety concerns due to this snow storm.

Due to the predicted limited snow fall, a snow emergency declaration will not be declared. Residents are asked to limit street parking to allow public works to clean closer to the curbs.

The city also requests that you consider assisting your disabled and elderly neighbors in keeping their sidewalks free of ice and snow.
