City of Cambridge to Host Public Meeting on Flood Mitigation Project 60% Design Review

Cambridge, MD — The City of Cambridge, through its Make Cambridge Resilient Initiative, invites the public to attend a community meeting to review the Flood Mitigation Project 60% Design.

The public meeting will be held 6-7:30 pm on February 24, at the Dorchester County Public Library, Cambridge Branch, in the meeting room.

During the meeting, the project design team will present the 60% design for the Flood Mitigation Project and provide an overview of recent progress. The presentation will highlight design refinements made in response to regulatory agency comments and feedback from local residents.

City officials emphasize that public input continues to play a critical role in shaping the project. Community members are encouraged to attend, learn more about the project, and share comments and questions during the meeting.

For more information, please contact the City of Cambridge or visit the Make Cambridge Resilient Initiative website at www.makecambridgeresilient.org.
